Spot the plane.....

November's contest had a mild Santa Ana weather pattern with steady winds of 10-15mph from the North East. Occasionally when we're flying in these conditions someone flies behind the launch area to slope off the hill, loses the lift and then is faced with clawing their way up Gainsbourgh Rd. into the wind - and in sink - to get back to the field. Sometimes they get caught and either end up landing off the field (e.g. on a parked car) or, as in this case, they manage to land in that small pine tree. This brand new plane is well stuck but was retreived without any damage to either the plane or the

A Note from October's Meeting

One item of discussion from that meeting is important to the entire club membership.

There was a case of a line break that whipped back as the tension released and struck someone in the face. Fortunately in this case they were wearing glasses that prevented the line from hitting their eye. This suggests that working the retrievers needs extra care and in particular:-

- 1 Retrievers should only we used by people who are aware of the potential dangers from them and how to minimize the risk of injury to themselves of spectators
- 2 It might be a good idea to wear saftey glasses (and gloves) while working them

Stuff Wanted

It looks as if 2001 will be my fifth year editing this newsletter. As you'll have noticed the amount of material in it varies, going up and down depending on what people send to me and whether I have any free time to trawl around the 'net to find things.

I need more material. It doesn't need to be nicely written, ready to insert copy (although that's always welcome). It just has to be notes and pictures of anything of interest - maybe a description of a recent contest, maybe a picture of some new plane, maybe just the occasional cartoon. I've had regular contributions from Bob Swet (anything that's a closely packed table of information probably came from him)(including the one on the next page), Don Northern (if its a 'toon then it probably came from him) and a one or two others, but not much else.

So, have a think about what you can send in. It doen't need to be much - I can type, scan, format and generally make the stuff look presentable. I just can't write it. (Editor)
